plans to begin informal discussions with HAC staff this week, but she has no timetable as yet for completing them (she hasn't even finished writing her own classified annex).

She promised to let me know when they really begin serious discussions; meanwhile, she does want the appeals--even if in draft-- ASAP, especially those for Her plan is to start with the GDIP and do programs last.

She mentioned that she has had several discussions with the CIA & CCP folks and that they've answered many of her questions; that may account for the apparent lack of urgency at this point. I do think we should press now to get the package ready for the DDCI's signature.
